Plane crash kills man

by Tamara Collins

A plane crash took the life of a man from Three Hills, last Friday.

Grant Cunningham had booked the PA 235 FYRJ from the Olds/Didsbury Flying Association for the weekend. He left the Olds/Didsbury airport, and while enroute to his destination, Gimli, the plane crashed.

The crash occurred approximately two to three miles east of Lake Manitoba. The aircraft was heading west and hit a bale of hay at a shallow angle at cruise speed. Cunningham, the sole occupant of the plane did not survive the crash.

According to the Accident Investigation Board, the weather was likely a factor in the accident.

Living to the limits

Anne Jenkins recently enjoyed a round of golf at the Didsbury Golf Club. Jenkins, age 92, has seen many changes to the Didsbury course over the years. She recalls golfing in the 1930's and 40's when the course was in the Rosebud Valley where the campground and the Zion-Evangelical Church are located today.

Man assaulted boy on Didsbury street

by Dan Singleton

A 43-year-old man who attacked a boy on a Didsbury street on March 19, causing the victim to be treated in hospital for head and face injuries, has been fined.

Larry Dale Kruse was tried before Judge Cheryl Daniel in Didsbury provincial court on Wednesday on a charge of assault causing bodily harm.

The 16-year-old victim, who cannot be named, testified he was standing with a group of friends on the public street outside Kruse's home at about 10 p.m. when Kruse ran up to him, shouting obscenities.

"He grabbed me and threw me on the ground," the boy said. "He got on top of me and he started to swing."

Kruse struck him several times in the head and face with his fists, the boy said.

Kruse then knelt him in the back of his head, slamming his face into the pavement, the boy said.

About 10 people quickly intervened, pulling Kruse off the victim.

The boy suffered cuts to his head and face, scrapes on his back, and a bump on the back of the head. He was treated at Didsbury Hospital and released.

Crown witness Nick Kurtz, 18, testified a number of young people, including the victim, had gone to a party at the residence but were turned away.

As the group stood on the street outside the house, Kruse ran at them, picked the victim at random and threw him to the ground, Kurtz said.

"He put his knee on his head and was bashing his head on the ground," Kurtz said, adding the victim made no comments or threatening gestures toward the accused prior to the attack.

Another Crown witness testified he also saw Kruse grab the victim and throw him down.

"Larry knelt him in the head," said the witness, who is under 18.

Another Crown witness, Will Harvie, 18, testified he saw Kruse slam his knee into the back of the victim's head.

"I thought it was wrong that a man came and beat up my friend," Harvie said.

Testifying in his own defence, Kruse said his daughter was having a birthday party at the house prior to the incident.

He said he was sleeping on a couch when he was awakened by one of the partygoers and told some uninvited guests were outside the home and were refusing to leave.

Kruse, who admitted drinking eight beers in the time before the attack, said he left his home with the intention of getting the young people to go away.

"I was tired and choked,"

Kruse said.

He admitted grabbing the victim, whom he did not know, by the shirt and throwing him onto the pavement.

"He was in my path," said Kruse. "I don't usually do this. I'm usually good with kids."

He denied kneeling or punching the victim.

One underage defence witness testified he saw the victim strike Kruse in the face during the confrontation. "Larry didn't kneel him or punch him once," the witness said.

Judge Daniel said she believed the testimony of the victim and other Crown witnesses, finding that Kruse was wholly responsible for the unprovoked attack.

IN THE COURTS

Man punched victim

Man punched victim

A 22-year-old man who repeatedly punched another man because the victim refused to give him beer has been jailed.

Robert Thomas Roan pleaded guilty to charges of assault causing bodily harm, common assault and possession of a weapon.

The accused went to a Didsbury residence near his home and demanded the people there give him liquor, court heard.

When the residents refused, the accused struck one man five times, and then pushed and shoved another man.

After the assault the accused left the scene and later returned with a large knife. At that time, police were called and the accused was arrested without incident.

Roan was held in custody since the July 31 incident.

Judge Hamilton ordered him jailed for four months, and prohibited him from possessing a weapon for 10 years.

Man threatened police

A 21-year-old drunk driver who threatened to harm two police officers during his arrest near Carstairs in June has been fined.

Shawn P. Schumaker pleaded guilty on August 23 to impaired driving, two counts of mischief, and uttering a threat to cause bodily harm.

The accused was arrested in a farmer's field near Carstairs after bystanders reported an erratic driver, court heard.

Before being stopped by police, the accused had driven into a pole, stopped his vehicle on train tracks, and caused $1,200 damage to a grain crop.

When police took him into custody, Schumaker threatened to burn and otherwise assault the arresting officers. He also threatened to urinate in the police car.

His blood alcohol level at the time was 190 mg per cent or more than twice the legal limit, said prosecutor Danny Elliott.

The accused told Judge S. Hamilton that he was drinking at a Carstairs bar before the incidents.

The judge fined the accused $920 and prohibited him from driving for one year on the impaired charge. On the mischief charges, she fined the accused $500.

On the uttering threat charge she fined Schumaker $575 and placed him on probation for one year. The accused was also ordered to pay $1,200 restitution.

Hit and run suspect makes court appearance

A 33-year-old man charged after a Fort McMurray man was struck down in a hit and run accident in Carstairs made his first court appearance Aug. 23.

The accused is facing one count of failing to stop at the scene of an accident. The charge carries a maximum penalty of five years in jail.

The victim, 22, was walking along a Carstairs street shortly before 11 p.m. on June 5 when he was hit.

The driver left the scene without stopping to help the victim, leaving it up to witnesses to call emergency personnel, said Didsbury RCMP Const. Tim Diebel.

The victim, whose identity is being withheld by police, was taken by STARS to Calgary's Foothills Hospital with serious head injuries. He remains in hospital.

Gregory Joseph Foran, 33, was charged June 6. He appeared before Judge Sandra Hamilton in Didsbury provincial court, adjourning the matter to Sept. 13 for plea.

Driver pepper sprayed by police

A man who refused to cooperate with police during a roadside stop near Olds in March, resulting in the man being pepper sprayed by police, has been fined.

Curtis Jesse Miller pleaded guilty on Aug. 25 to a charge of refusing to provide a breath sample. He was to be tried on the charge but changed his plea.

The accused was stopped by a patrolling police officer after she noticed him driving erratically on Hwy. 2A, court heard.

When the officer asked the man for his documents, he stalled and refused to exit the vehicle, said Crown prosecutor Danny Elliott.

The officer then pepper sprayed the man and took him into custody. The accused admitted he had been drinking in Calgary prior to his arrest.

Judge C. Daniel asked the accused, who has a previous drunk driving conviction, "Do you tell your children that it's a good idea to drink and driver?"

The accused replied no.

The judge then told the accused he would now likely have to pay $10,000 a year in insurance.

Daniel fined Miller $850 and prohibited him from driving for one year.

Child pornography charge

A 38-year-old Calgary man charged after police found computer discs containing images depicting underage persons engaged in sexual activities has made his first court appearance.

The accused was arrested on an outstanding warrant last week and appeared before Judge Robert J. Wilkins in Didsbury provincial court on Aug. 30.

RCMP seized discs, as well as photographs, from a mini storage unit in Carstairs in June 2003, court heard.

Following his show cause or bail hearing the accused was released on bail and ordered to be back in court on Sept. 27 for plea.

Michael Gough, 38, faces one count of possession of child pornography. The charge carries a maximum penalty of five years imprisonment.

Arnie Shea, ready to make changes in the MVC

by Tamara Collins

Arnie Shea has announced he will run in the election for Division 5 of the Mountain View County (MVC).

"My views have not changed over the past several years," said Shea. "I still believe our county needs a fresh slate of new elected representatives to review and deal with the policies and spending habits of the present council and administration."

Ex-member of the MVC Ratepayers Association, Shea has not seen eye to eye with the present council, and feels it is time to take matters into his own hands. Shea believes the task will be demanding, but he is ready for it.

"Only those who have the time and background knowledge can institute the changes necessary to return this county back to the rightful owners," said Shea. "Who are the tax payers."

According to Shea, there are several issues and problems that need urgent attention including public works inefficiencies and administrative overpowering.

"I am in strong opposition to the present new administration building plans and believe the time has come to look at realigning the Divisions so there is more emphasis on local concerns and needs, instead of a central power base that intends to concentrate our wealth along the Highway 2 corridor with tax dollars from areas of the county that would not directly benefit from this centralized and expensive location," said Shea.

After deciding about a year ago that he would be running again, Shea has since been preparing for the election.

"My issues are more than building and administration problems," said Shea.

"They also include some inside experiences with the tax assessment review process and the privacy commission policies. The law suit launched by a councillor and supported by her colleagues has been a wake up call for me."

Shea was unable to give details concerning the suit, but did say "it is disturbing to know that our elected servants would take the issue this far after they know I withheld information to protect another's private life. It has been a costly experience for both the tax payers and myself."

Shea's goals are to work in harmony with a new and invigorated council and administration to bring transparent governance practices back to our county.

"I want the electorate to know that I am an honest dedicated individual that will go head to head on an issue but will always respect others views and treat others with respect," said Shea. "I have some senior management and private business success and I will dust off the philosophies and see if I can do some good for all."

Councillors must remember they are nothing more than servants to the people they represent. All too often newly elected let the new recognition over come them and their ego control their decisions."

He does not consider himself a political person. Shea considers himself a challenger and he enjoys change.

"The slate of new candidates is very exciting and I want very much to be part of this team that seems to be transforming," said Shea. "I am still very much interested in forming a standing committee in rural municipalities to help ratepayers in conflict or needing representation."

Public Works efficiency is another high priority area I would very much like to be involved with."

Shea looks forward to meeting with tax payer from across the county to hear their views over the next several weeks.

Construction of County building expected to start this week

by Shaune Mohl

After nearly two years of research, delays, petitions, and debate - Mountain View County, has selected the firm which will be going ahead with the construction of their new administration building, and construction could start as early as this week.

The last delay put fourth came from an Aug. 11, 'Special Council,' meeting when council was informed that the costs for the project were expected to come in $1.13 million higher, than what was budgeted.

The original amount budgeted was $5.6 million. Council directed the building committee to work with the lowest bidder to find substantial savings to bring the project in on or under budget.

At the Aug. 25 special council meeting the building committee chairperson as well as Division 2 councillor, Charlie Van Arnham, requested a two week extension for his committee to work with the selected firm of Dawson and Wallace Construction Company to cut costs.

The committee, as promised, called a special council meeting last Wednesday, September 1 for the purpose of hiring the construction firm.

"We have been working diligently to ensure the proposed building can be brought in within the budget allowed... without comprising the functionality of the building or the energy efficiently," Van Arnham said, in opening at last Wednesday's meeting.

Van Arnham explained how the present council rescinded a motion from the previous council, which allowed the County to strike a building review committee.

The decision council eventually made, from research conducted by the building review committee, was to build a new building.

"Extensive research has been done and everyone is well aware of that. In that research and in our soul-searching a long term vision for the County has been considered. And, that's the thing about a long term vision... nobody today can say that a long term vision is the right or wrong thing, only time can tell. Long term vision for the County, I believe, is a very, very important part of the function of council. And, again, only time will tell if that vision is accurate or inaccurate. But, as seven councillors sitting around the table here, we do the best that we can."

The committee worked with Dawson and Wallace Construction to reduce costs, and there was a list of 30 amendments made in order to lower the construction costs.

Some of these changes include the elimination of an extra mechanical room for a savings of $40,000, changing the front rock from real rock to manufactured rock, eliminating day windows which allowed the building to be two inches thinner for a savings of $80,000, some modifications were made to the lighting and electrical to save $20,000, as well as a long list of other items.

Linus Murphy, the architect hired for the construction of the County building, explained that the building was going to build from a custom package, but has since reverted to a pre-manufactured package. This has saved the County $200,000.

Murphy assured council that the building will still be fully functional and nearly as good as the original building.

"We are still energy efficient as compared to where we currently are (in the present building)," Murphy said. The total construction costs of this actual project come in at $4,059,540 which will be paid to Dawson and Wallace Construction.

The total budget for the building is $5.5 million and the building will be 22,000 square feet.

The firm which has been hired - Dawson and Wallace Construction - had submitted a bid which was just $10,000 less than the second lowest bidder.

Councillor Dave Derksen, an eight term Mountain View County councillor who plans to seek re-election for a ninth term, asked his fellow councillors and administration for clarity to ensure the County won't be sued because they worked with the lowest bidder and didn't retender the job. "Tell me something that will assure me of that," Derksen said.

The County's Assistant Commissioner Tony Martens says that the County has sought legal advice and this is the proper way to do things.

Fix your pets

TAMARA COLLINS
EDITORIAL

How often do we hear complaints about the stray cats around Didsbury? Well, I have been here for almost a year now, and I have heard LOTS!

Instead of figuring out a solution to this problem, maybe we need to start thinking about how the problem can be prevented. There is actually a fairly simple solution to at least cutting this problem in half... get your pets fixed.

Here we are complaining about too many cats, yet every week there is a new ad in the paper, Free kittens! If no one has informed you before, then let me be the first, we do not need any more kittens, of any kind in this town. The ones that already live here are struggling to find homes and survive.

People need to take responsibility for their animals, this means either have them spayed or neutered, or keep them away from the opposite sex. Do not let them wander around outside, or you are gonna end up with more than you want.

For those people who do want a new kitten and respond to these ads, how about walking down the street towards any restaurant, and pick from the many stray kittens hanging out around there. I guarantee if you look for them, you will find one, and if not then drive to an animal shelter where there are always so many pets waiting for a home.

Ponderings of the heart

by Margaret Fradley

Our Confidence

Recently I was sitting, early one morning, in the quietness of the lakeshore. One could hear the early morning songs and chatter of the meadowlarks, the red winged black birds; and other early morning song birds, interrupted only by the quacking of a mother duck with her six young ones. It was such a peaceful scenario. Suddenly a swoop of crows crowded the scene with their loud cawing, which seemed to take over the whole atmosphere. No longer could the song of the birds, and quacking of a mother duck be heard over the sudden intrusion. This seemed to illustrate something of our lives at times, things seem to be progressing smoothly, going along quietly, when something occurs, catches us unawares, perhaps illness, the death of a loved one, a broken relationship, or the loss of a job, to disrupt; to challenge our seemingly calm situation.

As we sit at the lakeshore enjoying the peace and quiet we are aware of the beauty and marvel at our Maker's creation; when we face these difficult times can we also focus in, on that we have a God who loves us, who has promised He will never leave us or forsake us, that He is our solace and comforter. Do we turn to others who care, who want to be there for us. What a reminder that we have a loving Father, and that we have a need for one another.

Alberta is set to become home to world-class school of veterinary medicine

In Alberta, we take care of our own - that includes the people and the industries that make this province the best place to live, work and visit.

Lately, we've heard a lot about BSE and the devastating effect it has had on our cattle industries.

Recent discoveries and outbreaks of these kinds of diseases in food animal stocks have prompted us to explore options to make sure we can detect, contain and eradicate that may threaten human health and economic prosperity.

We need to take action, not only to help address current situation, but to make sure we're better prepared in the future.

Our response to this need is the opening of a new Alberta school of veterinary medicine in September 2006. The school will have an innovative research-intensive focus with unique links to a human medical teaching faculty.

In addition to having a research focus, the new school will also specialize in producing large (or food) animal veterinarians to address the shortage of large-animal vets in rural Alberta.

This program is great news for Alberta. The program, which will be housed at the University of Calgary, is expected to graduate 30 veterinary professionals each year and will complement other provincial animal-medicine programs throughout the province.

For example, graduates who want to further specialize in animal disease research after this three-year program may study at the University of Alberta, which currently houses Alberta's top schools in medical, animal health and food sciences research.

All this is going to be a part of a post-secondary system where institutions collaborate to meet the challenges of the future - and that's what Campus Alberta is all about.

This new veterinary school is a significant step toward meeting our challenges in the years ahead.

We will continue to build on our strengths, address our challenges, and explore innovative paths to ensure we can meet the needs of Alberta's industries and people for generations to come.

No reason for a new MVC building

Dear Editor:

The recent newspaper caption "BUILDING TENDERS EXCEED BUDGET", a failure in communication?

The August, 2004 issues of the local newspapers indicates that the Mountain View County (MVC) Council, have clearly lost control of the proposed new County administration building, and are planning to give up the control to a General Contractor, with whom they are negotiating a lower price. This is like the circus lion trainer sticking his head into the gaping lion's mouth. There is always the probability of being bitten.

Had this MVC Council listened to the electors advice given on their ballots in the 2001 Municipal election which stated "no new building", they would not be facing this dilemma. Had MVC Council listened to the recommendations of the "Building Review Committee" which was a mechanism that they sanctioned, they would not be facing this dilemma.

The Building Review Committee recommended renovation option 5A or 5B at an average estimated overall cost of $3,700,000.00 which included allowances for site development, architectural and engineering fees, furniture, permits and contingencies. This estimate included an allowance of up to $380,000.00 for staging of the work because of the need to shift the existing occupancy during construction. Had the

MVC Council proceeded with the upgrading of the existing administration building to the status of a new building, with the planned new expansion, they would have achieved the following:

1. There would have been no objection to such a development from anyone, including the Mountain View Taxpayers Association.

2. They would have obviated any confrontation from the landholders adjoining the proposed activity at the Olds/Didsbury airport site.

3. There would have been no appeal of the required development permit, since the development would have taken place in the Town of Didsbury.

4. There would have been no infringement in land use of the appellant Dwayne Berreth, as it applies to the proposed building at the Olds/Didsbury airport site. The development within Didsbury would not pose any environmental issues.

5. They could have had the architect prepare the construction/tender documents prior to December, 2003.

6. Tendering and bid evaluation could have been completed by February, 2004 with contract award, and ultimate start of construction in April, 2004.

Instead of taking the prudent action, described above, the MVC Council decided to ignore all the recommendations of the Building Review Committee, and embark on a voyage of contradiction and confrontation. Why did they take such action in this case? No one really knows!

MVC Council has never communicated any justifiable facts or rationale to the electors of Mountain View County, as to why there should be a totally new administration building at the Olds/Didsbury airport site. This includes why the existing Mountain View County facilities presently located in the Town of Didsbury, worth many millions of dollars, are being planned to be abandoned.

Ted Kostenuke (Mountain View County Elector)

Dear Editor:

I attended the Mountain View County Regular Council Meeting on August 25, 2004 and determined there is still not a recommendation to Council to award the contract for the new County Administration Building.

In fact, the ad hoc building committee is still working with the architect to try to get the contract to come within the "budgeted cost" for the building.

This process apparently involves cutting out features originally designed by the architect. It seems to me that there will be sufficient changes to the original bidding documents (the drawings and specifications) that would mandate that the revised scope of work should be re-tendered to all the bidders to be fair.

Based on the cost over-run dilemma, and the timing for the award of the contract that is now facing the Council, and the results of the plebiscite at the last municipal election, and the flawed petition of electors on the building issue that was not accepted by the Council, I believe it would be prudent for the Councilors to have the decision on the new building tabled until after the municipal election.

If the majority of the incumbents are re-elected it will be a clear mandate to the County Council that the electors want the building to proceed

CHR challenges patients with depression

by Tamara Collins

The Calgary Health Region is implementing, what's believed to be the first Canadian program of its kind for patients in a hospital, an outdoor Adventure Therapy Program for six female patients who have been hospitalized with depression.

"Treatment for depression is much broader than just medication. It involves other therapies that can have a profound effect on the outcome of the patient's hospitalization," says Allen Rees, a Senior Recreation therapist at the Rockyview Hospital who organized the nine-day treatment program along with fellow therapist Dolores Dercach. The program was developed in close cooperation with the University of Calgary and the Pacific Centre for Leadership at Nakoda Lodge.

The most important part of the program, and that which makes it unique, is the use of Cognitive Behavioral Therapy (CBT) during the wilderness experience. CBT focuses on the patients' thoughts, behaviours and thoughts contribute to their mood problems. The most important initial step is behavioral activation. The patients must start "doing" and that is where Adventure Therapy comes in.

"While patients will be embarking on the adventure of their lives, they'll also be participating in a unique and effective treatment for depression, which hospitalized them in the first place," says Dercach.

Although Adventure Therapy has been used effectively for outpatients in the past, it's the first time that patients in a hospital will be provided the same treatment. On the first two days of the program the six patients will challenge themselves on a series of cables suspended 10 meters above the forest floor. In the following weeks they'll take part in a sea Kayak trip down the Columbia River and a three-day back country hike in Yoho National Park in which they will attempt at least one summit.

"The women have already been chosen for this program," said Leanne Niblock, CHR Communications. "Women with similar challenges were chosen."

A second trip will take place in the following months, then a review will be done of the program to see if it will continue, or what changes need to be made.

Vandals hit Chinook's Edge

by Dan Singleton

The 2004 summer break has proven to be very expensive for the Chinook's Edge School Division in central Alberta, with vandals targeting 11 schools and causing more than $25,000 damage, say officials.

Windows have been smashed and other school property damaged at schools in Sundre, Olds, Innisfail, Cremona, Sylvan Lake, Benalto, Red Deer and Penhold since classes let out June 25.

For example, a school storage shed was burned down in Innisfail on Aug. 7, windows worth $5,000 were broken at the Cremona school July 11, and windows worth $3,000 were smashed at Sundre's River Valley school July 31.

All the vandalism incidents have $5,000 insurance deductibles, meaning the school division is going to be picking up the tab, said Chinook's Edge superintendent Jim Gibbons.

Sundre-area school trustee

Ron Fisher said: "These dollars should be spent in the classrooms, not repairing damage."

In light of the recent vandalism, the division may consider installing video surveillance cameras on school properties, he said.

RCMP detachments across the region are investigating the incidents.

Anyone with information is being asked to call Crime Stoppers.

CPR's Empress to visit Didsbury

The CPR Empress, locomotive 2816 (above) will be visiting Didsbury on September 12th.

by Tamara Collins

Steaming into Didsbury, comes the CPR Empress. The resurrected locomotive 2816 re-entered active service in 2001 as a roving ambassador for Canadian Pacific Railway.

The Empress will pass through Didsbury on September 10th at approximately 1:50 p.m. if all goes well, and they stay on schedule. It will then head back this way, and stop in Didsbury on September 12th at 2:15 p.m. That time could change anywhere from 1:40 pm to 2:20 pm. The train will remain in Didsbury for approximately 20 minutes.

"CPR contacted me and asked if we would be interested in having the Empress visit our town," said Didsbury mayor Dorothy Moore. "After the train wreck here, they were so impressed with the people of Didsbury. They just loved it here."

CPR's 2816 is a class H1b

Hudson type locomotive built by Montreal Locomotive Works in December 1930. CPR Empress is now the only surviving H1b Hudson and is one of only a handful of preserved and operating CPR steam locomotives in North America.

Initially the locomotive ran westward out of Winnipeg to Calgary and eastward to Fort William, Ontario (now part of Thunder Bay). Locomotive 2816 then moved into service on the Windsor-to-Quebec City corridor. Its last assignment was at the front of a Montreal-Rigaud commuter train, making its final revenue run on May 26, 1960. Having logged more than two million miles in active service, 2816's fires were extinguished.

Today, after a complete three-year rebuild, 2816 is restored to the original specifications with external details from the 1940/50s.

Pioneer families who arrived on the train between the late 1800s and 1902, will have an opportunity to board the train when it arrives in Didsbury. If you are among these families, you are asked to contact the Town office at 335-3391 for your ticket.

"It is really exciting to have this visit right before our centennial celebrations start," said Moore. "This is a real treat for Didsburians."

At The Kitchen Table

by
Noreen Olson

Hobbes was born at Christmas in 1992 and came to us at the age of five weeks. He was part of a big litter and his overburdened mom had weaned them a bit early. His mother was a white German Shepherd and his dad a Border Collie but Hobbes must have inherited his looks from a great uncle on his mothers side because his conformation and color was almost classic German Shepherd. We have pictures of him at five weeks, blunt little muzzle, tan face, legs and chest, black eyebrows and saddle, bare pink tummy, enormous feet and a laughing mouth. Gjertrud, our Norwegian exchange student, was with us that year and we considered some Norwegian names for the pup but I chose "Hobbes" for the Tiger in the comic strip Calvin and Hobbes. The colors were similar and I hoped our puppy would have the same sweet personality as his namesake. He did.

We were in a nasty cold snap when Hobbes came to live with us and we were tempted to keep him in the house but he had been living outside and he was going to be an outside dog so we fixed him a cozy house in the garage and brought him in only for meals. By the third feeding he had it figured out and the moment the basement door opened he tumbled down the steps and into the food dish. At the same time he established his place in the household, he was a farm dog and as such he was determined to assist his farmer. Another picture shows him with Ralph as they cross the snow covered yard, his fat little puppy body almost the exact size as Ralph's booted foot. "Some help," Ralph said wryly, "I have to be careful not to step on my dog."

By calving season Hobbes was three months old and although he had grown a lot he was still a puppy and deserving of care and protection. We really didn't want him with us among the cows and calves but if we tied him up or shut him in the garage he cried in frustration and sorrow. One day, while we were in the corral, ear tagging newborns, an angry cow caught him and rolled him over several times before he escaped and ran yelping from the field of battle. "There goes our cattle dog," we said, "that could make him permanently scared of cows." We had hardly finished speaking when he was back barking at the cow, but this time from a safer distance. He helped us with cattle all the rest of his life.

By haying season he was a fine long-legged adolescent and he followed every machine that Ralph used, running for miles up and down the field. He loved to race us home from the end of the lane and he was a wonderful runner. In Harvest time he followed the swather and then the combine. Hobbes rarely barked when people drove into the yard but he barked every time the motor started on the grain auger. He also barked when the lawn mower started and he barked at coyotes and porcupines. Porcupines were his nemesis. Most dogs will tangle with a porcupine once, sometimes twice but then they learn not to ever do that again. Hobbes could get quilled twice in one day. He knew better, he really did, but he so wanted to make the darn thing run and maybe if he just got a little closer and then the pain and embarrassment of having quills removed again.

Dear good Hobbes who never wandered off and had to be retrieved, who never made a mean move or harmed a living soul, who was totally loyal, ever patient, sweet natured, beautiful, gentle, quiet and noble. His whole life was geared to pleasing us and we loved and valued him as a member of the family.

In early summer he began missing meals and sleeping a lot. We tempted him with special foods and favorite treats and for a while he ate a bit better. But he was just so tired. Until the last day he wagged his tail when we spoke to him. And then he went to sleep for the last time. We are going to miss him for a long, long time.

Successful stick curling league expands

What started out last fall as a gleam in the eye of local curling enthusiast Carson Schultz has become a popular sporting event in Didsbury.

Stick curling, a variation of regular curling which keeps in mind persons with reduced mobility due to back and joint problems, or simply age, is back this season, and bigger than ever, growing to three leagues of up to 24 teams each, up from just one league of 22 teams last year.

Stick curling's advantage lies in the curler's ability to push and release the rock down the ice using one of several custom-designed sticks. "With stick curling, it's a two person team.

There is no sliding, and you wear two grippers, which makes it as easy as walking

"With stick curling, it's a two person team. There is no sliding, and you wear two grippers, which makes it as easy as walking across your living room carpet."

-Carson Schultz

across your living room carpet," explains Schultz.

Members of the team take turns either throwing or skipping, which keeps everyone warm and in the game.

"Due to the limited sweeping and no chasing rocks up and down the ice, most anyone can enjoy this new sport."

The 4th Annual bonspiel will be held November 17th - 19th, but being in the league does not mean you are obligated to participate.

Didsbury will also be hosting the Canadian Open Stick Curling Classic from February 15th - 19th.

This sport is very inexpensive compared with many others, with the only costs being the special grippers, a stick, and of course warm clothing. All ages are welcome, and it is a great social experience.

A clinic will be held October 16th for anyone interested in seeing what stick curling is all about, with actual league play beginning one week later.

If the sport continues to grow as it has been, Schultz hopes to see Didsbury stick curlers in the Nationals, and perhaps even the Worlds, within five years. "That's our goal, anyway."

Anyone seeking more information on stick curling can view the Stick Curling Canada website, www.stickcurling.ca, or contact either Carson Schultz at 335-4954, Ike Wiebe at 335-4034, Brian Dingman at 335-4973, Alex Bateman at 556-8111, Bob Green at 337-3317, or Garry Sherman at 335-4776.

Get fit and have fun!

Summer is waning, and we are starting to see more signs of autumn every day. Leaves falling from trees, much cooler weather, kids with their backpacks... Are you planning on settling in to your favorite recliner with nothing but your comforter, the television remote, and a steaming bowl of popcorn to keep you company? Pauline Wigg thinks she has a better idea for spending the forthcoming cold days, and she may be on to something.

Wigg, a certified fitness instructor since June of 2003, is offering, through the Town of Didsbury, a variety of fitness programs for men and women of all ages and abilities. "I have been active my whole life, and I have seen so many benefits," says Wigg.

"Nothing keeps you feeling young like maintaining an active lifestyle." Just a few of the benefits include an increase in your general energy level, a more optimistic outlook, and a more cheerful demeanor. Also, the risk of contracting diabetes and heart disease is lessened.

"We offer something for everyone," says Wigg. "There is a program for beginners, a low impact dance workout, and even something for the kids, focusing on fun as well as fitness."

We also have a Piloga workout, bringing together the positions and gentle stretches of Pilates and the relaxation techniques of Yoga."

"It is important that people realize they do have the time to work on managing their health."

Wigg explains that even a couple hours a week can make a huge difference. "Everyone is encouraged to work at their own pace, and specific instruction will be given to ensure people are getting the best workout for them. If someone needs to slow things down, they will be shown how to do it while maintaining an effective workout. Likewise, those who want to work harder will learn how to intensify the program."

Wigg is hoping to see an increased turnout over last year. "This is such a great way for us to connect, to come together, and to work towards a common goal." Classes are held at the Multi-Purpose Room of the Didsbury Memorial Complex, and will run from September 13th to November 29th, with most programs offering a variety of days and times so as to fit with everyone's busy schedule.

Increasing your fitness level is always more enjoyable when with friends, so special group rates are also offered. Registration information is available by calling 335-7369.

Pauline is also available to answer any questions, and can be reached at 335-4820. "I am looking forward to seeing more people come out. Fitness is fun, and the benefits are endless!"

Back to school party helps local cause

On Sat. Aug. 28 I had a back to school party for the students going into grade 3. Their siblings were welcome as well. I rented the pool back in June & sent a note home with the children so that I could include them all. Then in August I called as many as I had phone numbers for to remind them. I called AG Foods and they agreed to donate the juice, Schneider's agreed to donate the weiners, Markos Bistro donated the buns (and also made little cinnamon buns as a surprise treat!) and Mac's Convenience Stores donated the condiments and a free frosty coupon for each of the children. I just asked the children to please bring a donation to the food bank, toll for school or a new or slightly used gift for a Mom. I had a great response and gave it all to Linda Sirr who takes care of the food hampers right here in Didsbury. Our new Principle Mr. Runnett, Vice Principal Mrs. Hrabok, and even one of the grade 2 teachers (that the students just loved!), Mr. Bullivant joined us! I had lots of help & support from all, the parents and everyone had fun! A big thank you to all the businesses that donated the food and the families that so generously donated.

Thank you!

Scholars

The Mountain View Credit Union gave out two scholarships this year, one to Bobbi-Lynn Hopfe and the other to Marjie Kershaw, both of Didsbury. The Credit Union usually only gives out one scholarship a year, but this year they were able to give out two because the Linden branch was without a recipient. To receive this scholarship, the student must be a member, or have someone in their immediate family a member of the Credit Union. They are then judged on their academic achievements, community involvement, financial needs, and their leadership roles. This scholarship is only offered to the students in their first year of post secondary school.

Notes from Nigeria

Dear Family and Friends,

As I went out our front door yesterday I saw lush greenery, plants like split-leaf philodendron. I looked after our African Gray parrot. I thought that many people back in North America would give thousands of dollars to have what I have, kind of like a tropical paradise. When I told Janet about my thoughts, she reminded me that the view out our front door was not the sum total of our living conditions and the word "paradise" was probably not appropriate.

She calculates that she needs about five hours on the computer each day in order to get her work for the School done and get the library on line. Yesterday the computers were on for about half an hour. Maybe yesterday was not the best day to talk to her about living in paradise!!

Last week I went down to Ilorin for meetings. The trip down went faster than usual, partly because a Nigerian friend travelled with me, and partly because the roads have been fixed a bit. I was grateful for the improvements. I was also grateful for the fellowship as we travelled.

While in Ilorin I stayed with Mrs. Ayinmodu and really appreciated her hospitality and the opportunity for fellowship. The meetings were somewhat boring and frustrating, but that seems to be normal. Our agenda for General Board hasn't changed much over the past year and a half because the decisions are not properly recorded or implemented. The Headquarters personnel have been told that they must carry out the Board's wishes, but it doesn't happen.

General Conference was on Thursday and Friday last week and elections were the major concern. Unfortunately these were left until the very end and resulted in serious disagreement.

Ultimately nothing was decided and another meeting will have to be held, hopefully in November, where proper elections will be done. The meeting ended about 2 a.m. Saturday with more disagreement and people withdrawing their candidacy. I didn't stay until 2 a.m. I left about 11:30. The next morning I talked with the head of the nominating committee and urged him to follow the procedure outlined in the Constitution. So, we'll have to wait and see what will happen.

Saturday we were about two hours into our eight-hour journey when the car started missing. We limped into Mokwa and I was praying that God would work things out. He did! Right in front of us were people from the Conference driving the same kind of car. They knew a mechanic who could help us, and it took about fifteen minutes for the fellow to fix the car. It cost about $1.50 U.S. God is good.

Sincerely,
Dan for the Snyders

NEIGHBORHOOD

Focus on the Family

QUESTION: If power is so important to teenagers, then it must play a key role in family dynamics. How does it work itself out at home?

DR. DOBSON: You've asked a very perceptive question. It is a wise parent who knows intuitively how to transfer power, or independence, to the next generation. That task requires a balancing act between two equally dangerous extremes. They dare not set their teenagers free before they are mature enough to handle the autonomy -- even though they are screaming for it.

Adolescents need parental leadership and parents are obligated to provide it -- that's the law of the land. One of the characteristics of those who acquire power too early is a prevailing attitude of disrespect for authority. It extends to teachers, ministers, police officers, judges and even to God Himself. Such an individual has never yielded to parental leadership at home; why should he or she submit himself to anyone else? For a rebellious teenager it is only a short step from there to drug abuse, sexual experimentation, running away and so on. The early acquisition of power has claimed countless young victims by this very process.

On the other hand, there is an equally dangerous mistake to be avoided at the latter end of adolescence. We must not wait too long to set our young adults free. Self-determination is a basic human right to which every adult is entitled. To withhold that liberty too long is to incite wars of revolution.

My good friend Jay Kesler observed that Mother England made that specific mistake with her children in the American colonies. They grew to become rebellious "teen-agers" who demanded their freedom. Still, she refused to release them and unnecessary bloodshed ensued. Fortunately, England learned a valuable lesson from that painful experience. Some 171 years later, she granted a peaceful and orderly transfer of power to another tempestuous offspring named India. And revolution was averted.

At the risk of being redundant, let me summarize our goal as parents: First, we must not transfer power too early, even if our children take us daily to the battlefield. Mothers who make that mistake are some of the most frustrated people on the face of the Earth. On the other hand, we must not retain parental power too long. Control will be torn from our grasp if we refuse to surrender it voluntarily. The granting of self-determination should be matched stride for stride with the arrival of maturity, culminating with complete release during early adulthood.

Sounds easy, doesn't it? We all know better. I consider this orderly transfer of power to be one of the most delicate and difficult responsibilities in the entire realm of parenthood.

QUESTION: Our son will be leaving for college next fall. Is there anything we can do to help ease the transition from home life to dorm life?

DR. DOBSON: For starters, author Joan Wester Anderson suggests that you make sure that your teen has the basic skills necessary to survive dorm life. Can he operate a washer and dryer, stick to a budget, handle a checkbook, get along with roommates and manage his time wisely?

It's also important to prepare your son for the negative aspects of campus life. Too often, adults present a rosy portrait of college as "the best years of life," which creates unrealistic expectations that lead to disappointment. Remind your son that homesickness is to be expected, and that he can call home collect anytime, just to chat. At a dime a minute after working hours, the costs of telephone usage should be within everyone's reach financially.

During the first semester away, letters and treats from home can ease the pain of separation anxiety. And be pleasant when that young man returns for visits. If he feels like an intruder, he just might decide to visit someone else's home for future vacations. Going away to college is a milestone for those who embark on that journey. With proper planning, it can be a positive time of growth for the whole family.

Grizzlys will ice a competitive team

by Barry Williams

Judging from early exhibition action, the Olds Grizzlys will ice a competitive team for the upcoming 2004/2005 Alberta Junior A Hockey League season.

With two exhibition games under their belt, the rookie laden roster was introduced to two nail biting encounters.

Playing a home and home series with the Calgary Canucks, the Grizzlys edged the Canucks 3-2 in an overtime game played at the Olds Sportsplex on Aug. 26.

On the road in Calgary on Aug. 27, the Grizzlys skated to a 5-4 victory.

With seventeen positions up for grabs this season, Head Coach/GM, Brett Cox, received the opportunity to evaluate the first year players in a game situation and judging from the effort put forth on the ice during the series with the Canucks, the player selection could be difficult.

"Right now, the priority is to have the best team possible on the ice when the regular season opens," Cox said in an earlier interview. "Because the players in camp are all talented players, the selection will be tough," Cox added. During the off season, Cox spent countless hours recruiting players and he seems content the best players are at camp.

"There are some pleasant surprises at camp this year," Cox noted.

With netminder Nathan Lawson graduating to university in the United States, Cole Anderson is prepared to step in as the number one goalie this season. Rookie netminder, Christopher Woo, shared the goaltending duties with Anderson against the Canucks and he turned in a stellar performance between the pipes.

In Olds, a goal off the stick of Jeff Young just twenty-two seconds into overtime gave the Grizzlys the 3-2 victory.

Although the Canucks, outshot the Grizzlys by a wide margin during the game, Anderson and Woo had the Canucks' sharpshooters shaking their heads in disbelief as the Grizzlys' goaltending tandem made several brilliant saves.

In the first period, Curtis VanGrinsven denied the twine mid-way through the stanza giving the Grizzlys a 1-0 lead after twenty minutes of play.

At the 17:53 mark of the second period, Matt Pinder evened the score at a goal apiece with a Canucks' power play marker.

Veteran Lane Scruggs blinked the red light with an even strength goal at 17:13 of the third period giving the Canucks their first lead of the game.

With less than two minutes to play in the game, Tyler Webb notched a power play goal for the Grizzlys sending the game into the extra session deadlocked at two goals apiece. Anderson and Woo combined to make 24 saves. Meanwhile, the Grizzlys fired 20 shots at the Canucks' net.

Goal scorers in the Grizzlys win at Calgary were not known at press time. This week, the Grizzlys play a home and home series with the Drumheller Dragons.

On Tuesday, Aug. 31, the Grizzlys travel to Drumheller to tangle with the Dragons and on Sept. 1 the two teams will tangle at the Olds Sportsplex.

League action for the upcoming season starts on Sept. 10. When the Grizzlys roar into the new schedule, they will be playing away from the Grizzlys' Den as they play their first three games on the road in Brooks, Camrose and Spruce Grove. Home opener for the Grizzlys is on Friday, Sept. 24 against the Drumheller Dragons. Fans are reminded season tickets are still on sale at the Grizzlys office. Also, the team is in need of billets. If you can help out contact the Grizzlys' office.

Canadian cowboys dominating World Saddle Bronc standings

by Barry Williams

Two Canadian saddle bronc riders are making quite an impression on the Jack Daniel's/PRCA World Standings' leaderboard.

Didsbury saddle bronc buckaneer, Glen O'Neill, continues to lead the World Standings with $128,840 in season earnings.

Meanwhile, Rod Hay, of Wildwood, AB, holds down third place cashing in for $96,364 in earnings.

Sandwiched between the two Canadian riders is six-time World Saddle Bronc Champion, Dan Mortensen, of Billings, MT., with a fist full of cash worth $126,959.

For most of the current rodeo season, the three cowboys have been jockeying back and forth for the top rung in the World Standings' ladder.

All three riders have cashed in on the $50,000 Calgary Stampede in previous years. Besides being the 2000 Canadian Saddle Bronc Champion, O'Neill claimed the PRCA World Saddle Bronc Championship in 2002 and is the co-owner of the highest scored saddle bronc ride, 95 points. Hay has been a mainstay on the Canadian circuit since 1989 having won the Canadian Saddle Bronc Championship six times and pocketed $495,838 in earnings, a Canadian record.

Big Valley saddle bronc rider, Rod Warren, is currently in fourteenth spot in the World Standings with earnings of $40,977. For many years, Warren worked both ends of the arena and he has claimed the Canadian All-Around title six times along with the Canadian Saddle Bronc Championship in 2001.

In the bareback competition, Davey Shields Jr., of Bashaw, AB., holds down ninth spot in World Standings with winnings of $52,066.

Currently in tenth place in steer wrestling, Lee Graves, of Calgary, has earned $46,488 and is the top Canadian bulldogger.

With just eight weeks left to qualify for the Wrangler National Finals Rodeo, Canadian cowboys have been left out of the top fifteen positions in the tie-down roping and bull riding.

On the Canadian rodeo this past week, Biesecker saddle bronc rider, JR Reding spurred out 80 points aboard Big Stone's Rodeo's Danny Boy to share the lead with Kiwi rider, Adam Newman, at the Pincher Creek Rodeo.

Another rider from down under, New Zealander, Rodney Puxton scored 80 points on Big Stone's Rodeo's Chester to take top honors in the bareback event.

Capturing the bull riding event was Beau Hill, of Glacier, MT., covering Big Stone's Rodeo's White Out for 86 points.

A quick tie of 8 seconds flat earned Clark Houghson the tie-down roping championship.

Viking AB., bull dogger Lee Laskosky pinned his steer in 3.1 seconds to win the steer wrestling competition.

Around the barrels the fastest cowgirl was Joleen Seitz, of Savona, B.C., with a time of 15.85 seconds.

Penny Whitlow, of Cremona circled the barrels in 16.58 seconds and Kim Boyd, of Olds, had a time of 16.54 seconds.

At the Heritage Rodeo held in Jasper, Rod Warren won the saddle bronc riding with a mark of 80 aboard Northcott Rodeo's Die Hard.

With a mark of 82, on Northcott's Rodeo's Dark Alley, Dusty La Valley, of Debolt, AB., won the bareback event at Jasper.

Bull rider Dean Edge didn't need a map to find his way through the infield as he marked 88 on War Maps to capture the bull riding event.

Edge also was successful at the other end of the arena winning the tie-down roping with a time of 8.8 seconds.

Topping the bull doggers was Matt Wiart with a time of 3.3 seconds.

Carolynn Knapp set the pace in the barrel racing with a time of 13.43 seconds. Last year's rookie sensation in the barrel racing, Brooke Ramsay, of Cochrane, placed second with a running time of 13.48.

This weekend, the cowboys will be riding into Armstrong, B.C., Golden, B.C., Merritt, B.C. and Okotoks, AB.

Midget AAA Rocky Mountain Lightning searching for players

by Barry Williams

Calling all Midget hockey players from the County of Mountain View and the Foothills Municipal District, you're invited to the initial training camp of the Midget AAA Rocky Mountain Lightning.

A brand new team playing in the Rural Alberta Midget AAA Hockey League, the Lightning are commencing their initial training camp on Sept. 10 at the Carstairs Arena.

The three day camp will run daily practices on Friday, Sept. 10, Saturday, Sept. 11 and Sunday, Sept. 12 and then continue with practices twice a week. "We're inviting all area Midget hockey players to attend this camp," said Dave Cuming, of Carstairs.

"Hopefully, we will have around sixty players at the camp," added Cuming, indicating this area is a growing hotbed for hockey. Organizers of the team have been working extra hard to ensure the players will enjoy a unique hockey experience while playing for the Lightning noted Cuming.

"Our Board of Directors consists of people from the surrounding communities and they all have experience working with minor hockey," Cuming said.

And they have a connection with the Alberta Junior Hockey League as AJHL Commissioner, Bob Clark, of Carstairs, is the Lightning President.

According to Cuming, the Lightning will be working closely with the Olds Grizzlys and the two hockey organizations have already cemented an excellent working relationship. "In order for this team to succeed, we need the backing of the Grizzlys and the area minor hockey associations," Cuming noted.

An established league in the realms of Midget Hockey, the Rural Alberta Midget AAA Hockey League is the only league which has an affiliation with the AJHL.

"The Rural Alberta Midget AAA Hockey League is the only Major Midget league in Alberta affiliated directly with the AJHL," said Cuming.

With the AJHL agreement, AJHL teams can card and sign players from the RA Midget AAA HL as affiliated players. "This agreement is good for both leagues as it provides the AJHL with another avenue of recruiting players and it also gives the Midget players from this area an incentive for playing in a highly competitive league," added Cuming.

In league play, the Lightning will play a balanced 40 game schedule with all home games being played at the Carstairs Arena.

On Oct. 2 and Oct. 3, area hockey fans will have their first opportunity to see the Lightning in action as they will play Wainwright in scheduled games at Crossfield. Their first league action is in Peace River on Sept. 24.

Before the league officially opens, the Lightning will play in a tournament in Wainwright from Sept. 17-18. Players interested in trying out for the Lightning can contact Dave Cuming at (403) 337-3190.

WEDDINGS

Brad Metzger of Crossfield & Della Metzger of Innisfail along with Max & Val Clark of Didsbury are happy to announce the recent marriage of their children

Chris & Taunya
The wedding took place in Olds on July 24/04 at the First Baptist Church. Congratulations!

David and Sherry Blanchard from Thorsby, Alta. Virgil and Brenda Cipperley from Bluffton, Alta. are pleased to announce the marriage of their children Darla & Corey on Sept. 25, 2004 at Rimbey

LEONARD T. HAMM April 19, 1920 - August 28, 2004 - Len Hamm, formerly of Kamloops, and lately of Mission, BC is at peace. He is survived by his loving family: daughters Ruby (Larry Reynolds) and Pauline (Ron Nikkel); sons Emil (Anna), Homer (Ivana), Bernard (Cathy) and Calvin (Rhonda); eleven grandchildren and four great-grandchildren. Predeceased by his beloved wife Bertha in September, 2003, parents Peter and Mary Hamm, and sister Esther Schmidt. Survived by sisters Hannah Neufeld, Edna Hobbs, Gertrude (Frank) Martens, and brother Clifford (Marie). Len will also be remembered by family friend Fletcher "Flick" Billingsley.

Dad was born in Herbert, Saskatchewan and led a rich and varied life. He was a farmer, woodsman, musician, carpenter, craftsman, and romantic. Len married the love of his life, Bertha, on June 18, 1944. They were together for 59 adventurous years. Their odyssey took them from Didsbury, Alberta to Radium. For a number of years they settled in the Edmonton area. Warmer weather and construction prompted a move to Kamloops in 1966. The opportunity to build his dream home lured mom and dad to Mission in 1976. Len was unwavering in his convictions and his faith. He helped build a number of churches, in Kamloops, Kitimat and Mission and served the church in numerous other capacities. Sawdust was in dad's blood and if something could be built out of wood, he was up to the challenge. Some of his happiest hours were spent working on 'projects' with his children and grandchildren in his wood shop. Loving reminders of dad are present in all of our homes.

A memorial celebration of Len's life was held Thursday, September 2, 2004 at 2:00 p.m. at the North Side Community Church, 33507 Dewdney Trunk Road, Mission, BC. In lieu of flowers, and consistent with dad's life-long love of reading, donations may be made in his name to The Wycliffe Bible Translators or any other literacy group. "...let the lower lights be burning..."
